We are all interconnected.

A healthy environment will supply all its inhabitants with everything they need to survive. Since everything we do affects our environment, our job is to understand what we need to do to ensure a healthy environment.

- An ecosystem is a community of living things that interact with their environment.
- A habitat is a particular place where a group of plants and animals, including people, live.
- Interdependence means that everything in an ecosystem depends on everything else in the ecosystem.
- Biodiversity is the variety of life in a particular area. It is important to protect biodiversity because it helps ecosystems stay healthy.
